President's Message

President's Message

Have you ever examined authentic Shaker furniture? My wife and I recently visited Shaker Village (<http://www.shakervillageky.org/>) in Kentucky and I had a hands-on opportunity to view their woodworking up close and in detail. Their simplistic and unadorned style is often misconstrued as being simple to build but the joinery combined with the practical functionality makes each piece quite unique. Shakers religious beliefs encouraged their craftsmen to design and build their furniture to be highly useful in everyday life and to last for many lifetimes. The dovetailed drawers in the dressers I saw fit and operated just as smoothly as the day they were built back in 1817.

What is even more impressive the Shakers built all their furniture using hand tools and even those were self-made. This wood lathe operated like the old time sewing machines by peddling the foot frame to reach 400-500 rpm. Of course the key to turning at such low rpm is a very sharp set of chisels. That brings me to the topic of our June meeting. We will have a sharpening demonstration by a representative of Woodcraft. Woodcraft recently met with our friends at the West Alabama Woodworkers Association to do this demonstration and it was very well received. Please plan on joining us!

JUNE MEETING

KEEPING YOUR EDGE IN A TOUGH ENVIRONMENT

Many of you will recognize our June speaker as “one of the guys” at Woodcraft. Tom Boothe has worked at Woodcraft for the past two years, but most importantly he has been a woodworker for more than ten years. He has developed a seminar on the various ways to sharpen tools and he will share this with us at the June Meeting.

Tom Surtees

WOODWORKING EDUCATION CENTER (WEC)

The Thursday group continues with their efforts of building children appliances and inventorying and pricing items that will be for sale at the “Alabaster City Fest “.

We are still in need of a good riding lawn mower. If you know of one please let us know.

With the silent auction last month we were able to sell most of the surplus equipment that was stored in the north room. That room (our portion) has been cleaned and better organized. Please help us keep it that way.

Not everyone is taking shop clean-up seriously. I remind everyone it is your responsibility to clean-up after yourself and any other area that you see that needs cleaning.

May Tool Sale

Comfort Bucket

There's a bucket sitting on the sign in table at each of our meetings. That bucket is there for you to put in a couple of bucks for the “comfort” of having a nice place to meet. Those contributions help to defray the costs of heating, air conditioning, refreshments, and paper products. There was a time when we met in a warehouse without any of these amenities and at the convenience of others. Be grateful!

AR Bray

Artist, engineer, innovator, collector, inventor, entrepreneur, furniture maker, tool maker, woodcarver, amateur archeologist, instructor, gardener. All of these words describe AR Bray. His interests, skills and abilities are broader than the words can convey. In a recent visit with Mr. Bray, I learned more about him and wanted to share one view of the person we all know as "AR".

AR was born in 1937 in the coal mining town of Bondtown, Virginia-a town that no longer exists. His Father worked for the Carnation Milk Company and his family moved to several locations where the company had manufacturing facilities. One of these moves was to Dadeville, Alabama where AR attended high school. He graduated from nearby Auburn University with a degree in Mechanical Engineering. After graduation he worked at paper mills owned by International Paper in Pine Bluff, Arkansas, Moss Point, Mississippi and Bastrop, Louisiana. After working for International Paper, AR began a career as a representative for George S. Edwards Co. where he managed product lines such as instrumentation and control systems for paper mills. His background in mechanical engineering came into play in this position as he worked with control systems in chemical and other industrial processes.

AR has interests in archeology and paleontology. He has collections of Native American artifacts and fossils in his home and shop. He also collects old tools. He has an extensive collection of wooden planes and maintains many of them in ready-to-use condition.

A recent tour of AR's shop and home found many completed woodworking projects and many items under construction. His woodworking interests are varied. He has done full-relief carvings, whimsical items (some shown in the attached pictures), traditional items (a current example is a variety of Windsor chairs that are under construction in his shop), tables, tool chests, Shaker boxes, music-related items (see the guitar stand that he designed and created), stools, shop furniture and other shop equipment. The list is long and varied.

One item that amazed this writer is the carving of Thomas Jefferson that AR carved on a cowry shell (shown below). He also carved a very detailed and lifelike American Indian that is in his shop.

AR is a long-standing member of the Guild and has served in many capacities. He is now instructing a class in the construction of continuous arm Windsor chairs. Several members have completed chairs and they are beautiful examples of a classic design. AR shared with class members his skills with hand tools and traditional construction methods to add to the repertoire of the class members. These skills will be useful to them in many other areas of woodworking.

Many members of the guild have interesting stories about AR. Space does not permit relating all of those stories, but one that I found to be fascinating was a venture that he partnered in with his brother. They organized a business to sell Arkansas stones and a honing lubricant that they called "Possum Fat". I have an idea that a book could be written about AR's ventures (and possibly, misadventures). He is a treasure for our guild.

Some Examples of Items Made By AR Bray

AR's work is so varied and creative that it defies classification. Many of his creations are completely original. He occasionally works without plans and produces items that are free-form in nature. From three dimensional sculptures, to cameo carvings on a cowry seashell, toys, custom tools, traditional Windsor chairs, Shaker boxes, fine tool boxes, steam bending equipment and many other items, AR does it all

Guild Fundraising Activities at Local Festivals in May and June

The guild participated in two major festivals in May and June. On May 7 and May 8, many dedicated guild members set up and manned two tents at the Buck Creek Festival in Helena. Despite the best efforts of the team, the results were disappointing. On June 5 the guild participated in the Alabaster CityFest. The members manning the booth were diligent in their efforts to sell our items, but again the results were disappointing. Sales did not come close to covering the cost of participation. Those attending the booths were subjected to extreme heat and humidity. One member suffered from sunburn and all of the workers got wet when a thunderstorm came up as they were packing up the sale items. Thanks to the capable leadership of the Fund Raising chairman, Troy Stroud, the team packed up quickly and avoided the worst of the storm. The combined proceeds to the guild for these two events did not cover the fees for participating. The guild did, however, gain some favorable exposure in the communities closest to our shop. Some pictures from the Buck Creek event are shown below.
